The farm bureaus will take large bands of sheep from the grass ranges and place them in small "Liberty florks" on individual farms. The grass ranges have been so depieted, owing to two successive dry seasons, that many of the sheep would die, due to pasture shortage, if some provision were not made for them. HUNS HAD FONDNESS FOR CHICKEN AND EGGS

FUR CHICKEN AND EGGS

WITH THE BRITISH-AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE. Nov. 28.—Poultry owners in the little French villages from which the Germans were driver in the big allied offensive that ended the war have been having a hard time of it to supply the exacting demands of the Germans. Two eggs a week from every hen was once German requisition. If the owner failed to deliver the eggs he was fined one mark. He was forbidden to sell or kill his chickens, and if one of them died he was fined 100 marks.

Their homes were stripped of everything that contained metal or rubber.
Thinabitants in all the villages retaken by the ailied troops were allowed only the most meager quantities of food by the German army officers. Hundreds of them declared to the Associated Fress correspondent that if it were not for the help given by the United States through the SpanishAmerican relief committee, they would have starved. There were times when even some of this food did not reach them, they said, because it was taken by the Germans and used in the army.
One resident in the town of Bohain said that 14,000 pounds of lard sent to the Spanish-American relief committee from the United States and intended for the population, was taken by the Germans before they left the place.
